HUERTA SAYS HE

Cheers Greet President's Message at Opening of the Mexican Congress.

Mexico City, Mex., April 2.—Cheers greeted the closing of president Hierta's message, delivered at the opening of congress Wednesday night, when he laid emphasis on the statement that he would sacrifice himself and the members of congress also, if necessary, to pacify Mexico.

"Before leaving these precincts I must engrave upon your hearts that it is my purpose, as I have said before, to the national congress, to achieve the peace of the country, and if to do so your sacrifice and mine shall be indispensable you and I will know how to sacrifice ourselves. This is my purpose, or what is the same thing, by profession of political faith." Thus closed the message.

He pointed his finger as he impressed upon congress "bis profession of political faith." Then came sphalise with coles of "Viva Huerta!" in a volume sufficient to make up for lack of applause during the early part of his success.

he said:

"Referring to the department of foreigh relations I must tell you that the government of the republic has earnextly endenvored to develop a just nationalistic policy, which far from injuring our international relations, has resulted in making them the most cordial possible with the chief powers of the world.

repair cost J. S. Rodgers, general superintendent of the Pennsylvania, testified that "charges to operating expenses on the Pennaylvania system east of Pittsburg were $13,855,624 in 1910 and $29,411,210 in 1913, an increase of 18.3 percent." Ratiroad Situation Serious, Says Rea. President Rea said that not only the Pennsylvania, but all American railroads were confronted with the necessary of retrenchment, which might prove serious unless they were permitted to increase their earnings. He mitted to increase their earnings. He said:

"Unless the gap between receipts and expenses can be widened, we must begin to retrench and retrenchment must begin on betterments and improvements not directly necessary to the movement of trains. We should be very reluctant to do this, as it would be to run counter to our traditions and practice of half a century, and we are sure that it would not be in the public interests and we don't believe the public desires it.

"Now we have as much public support as can possibly be given to a plea almost national in its scope and we firmly believe our application for a very moderate freight rafe increase is in accordance with the best public interest." Immediate?—Yes? Certain?—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few

While he did not assert that the advance was "contrary to maintenance of the Pennsylvania Railroad company's dividends in the immediate future." Mr. Rea declared that "any general idea that Pennsylvania's position is so strong as not to need any additional revenue, is not correct." He added that the Pennsylvania had carned 4.84 percent during the fiscal year of 1913.

"We also know that it is unwise to limit facilities." Necessarily that involves a large expenditure of money that only gradually becomes available. We know that, judging from our past experience, many millions could be advantageously expended on our system in the next few years. We have confronting us a program of expenditures which we believe to be essential, some Qf them mainly for the benefit of the public, but all of them necessary to properly accommodate the present and future traffic.

The dream of free garbage hauling is all but faded. An ordinance fixing the fees to be paid for the removal of refuse matter and dead snimals and fowls was placed on its first reading by the city council Thursday morning. The erdinance also defines certain duties of "householders."

The acquistion of a metal receptacle not to exceed 50 gallions' capacity, is required. The receptacle, filled with refuse, is to be kept in an accessible place, so that the sanitary commissioner's department can haul away the garbage. Dead fowls, dogs and cats must go into the receptacle. The householder must collect the animals. The sanitary department officer must visit the residence every day.

All of the corps of the United States public health service is shown in this picture at his work of guiding a young civilization into sanitary ways. He is making his inspection round of an Alaskan village. The family members have come out to meet him upon their front porch, and are prepared to give serious attention to his unaccountably oneer fancies about elements. The father is submitting to an examination for trachoma, while the two little girls are stodidly nwatting their turns,
